MARGARET LACKEY OFFERING FOR STATE MISSIONS

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

As an 18 year old, I left my home country of El Salvador and came to America alone for college. My flight arrived late, so I missed my bus to campus. I had no phone to call the school and couldn't even speak English to explain my problem!

I had worked hard to get ready to move to America, but when I got here I still needed a lot of help. A lot of people travel from other countries in the world to come to college in America, leaving everything behind at home, just like me. I am very grateful for the people that helped me when I first came to America. Now as a student at Southern Miss, I am able to help other international students just like me.

Through our Baptist Student Union, we are able to meet some of the housing needs of international students when they first arrive. We are able to give them food and furniture. We become friends with them and help them practice their English. Most importantly, we are able to tell them about God's love for them.

The Margaret Lackey State Missions Offering helps us connect with international students through weekly programs and meals.
